

A Tribute to Dad and Zadie

Sunday, June 28, 2009 • 1pm-5pm

The National Museum of American Jewish Military History

1811 R Street NW, Washington, DC 20009 • (202) 265-6280

Tell us your stories of Dad or Zadie in the service. Are you a photographer or a videographer? Are you an artist? Are you a storyteller? A stand-up comedian? We are looking for children and grandchildren of all ages who would like to give us a glimpse inside the world of their fathers and grandfathers. What was (is) it like in the service? What was (is) their role? What makes them tick; what are their likes and dislikes – their favorite stories or, of course, those jokes that have you rolling with laughter.

Each of the 14 participants chosen for this event will have up to 15 minutes to tell their story through words, photography, film, or art. Register for your chance to participate by June 14, 2009, by e-mailing Mary Westley at mwestley@nmajmh.org. Participants will be notified of the schedule no later than June 18 for the afternoon performance. Tell your family and friends so they can be in the audience to hear your story. All submissions will be videoed and placed in the NMAJMH archives and on the web homepage and will be mentioned in The Jewish Veteran, our JWV member publication. This event is open to the public!
